Subject line: Request to Attend Tableau Conference 2026

Hi [First Name],

I am requesting approval to attend Tableau Conference 2026 in San Diego, May 5–7. Tableau Conference is the annual three-day event where data, AI, and analytics teams receive hands-on technical training, learn new product capabilities directly from Tableau experts, and see proven strategies from organizations with similar data challenges. It is designed to help attendees work faster, reduce manual effort, and improve the quality of insights delivered back to the business.

Why it's worth the investment

- Reduce manual effort: Hands-on workshops focus on automation, AI-assisted analysis, and repeatable workflows that cut down on time-consuming reporting tasks.
- Improve accuracy and output quality: Training sessions cover visualization best practices, governance, and data modeling techniques that help reduce errors and rework.
- Accelerate project timelines: Access to Tableau product experts and small-group consultations means I can resolve current roadblocks and return with solutions instead of delays.
- Increase adoption and team productivity: I can bring back proven techniques that streamline processes, improve efficiency, and help others work more effectively with Tableau.
- High value at a low cost: The $1,299 early-bird rate includes 300+ expert-led sessions, 150+ hands-on trainings, consultations, certifications, meals, and community access. This is significantly less expensive than comparable multiday technical training programs.

Direct impact on my current work:

This aligns directly with the work I'm leading, including:

Estimated costs:

- Airfare: [$XXX]
- Round-trip transportation between airport and hotel: [$XXX]
- Hotel: $272–$375 per night (plus applicable fees and taxes) x 4 or 5 nights (arriving May 4)
- Conference registration: $1,299 (early bird pricing)
- Training and certification add-ons:
 - Tableau Bootcamp: $899–$1,349 (early-bird pricing)
 - Tableau Certification Exams: $99 each (if applicable)
- Total: [$XXX]

Attending will give me the skills, shortcuts, and solutions needed to deliver higher-quality insights in less time, which creates measurable value for our team and for the organization.

Best,
